1 PROBLEM ONE

What?

The shortest lab question to date, yet the hardest to answer. What is this question? I do not know either and do not like it.

I will play along and make a question - what is the name of your operating system? rhinOS

2 PROBLEM TWO

Why?

Because it requires me to be "creative" and come up with an answer to a question I do not know. There are so many and so few choices and I do not know what to do.

The name is rhinOS because in case you could not already tell, creativity is not my strong suit. I looked up words that end in -os, rhinos stood out, plus it was easy to find a nice little icon to serve as the operating system's mascot.
